This Village

You of course know the African* proverb "It takes a village to raise a child" and you also likely know the book of that title by Hillary Clinton, too. Last night, I was deeply aware that it takes a village to heal the heart.

We gathered together as a community of Epiphanyites last night to pray, and to sing, and to gather around the table. And there were so many tears, holy tears of sadness and despair and anxiety and turmoil. And we named our fears, for ourselves and all those who are stunned that we have elected a president who is openly, maybe even proudly, a racist, homophobic, misogynistic, sexist, privileged white man. And what message that sends to those of us who are black and/or gay and/or women, and yes, even other privileged white men who do not think or live or love in any way that agrees with our president-elect. It is terrifying.

So the village gathered, some 60 or so of us, representing a different way of thinking. And as I sat to write this letter to you, a reflection came in from a parishioner who attended the service, and I was again deeply grateful for this village. Words of hope and love and honesty in a time when the words were not coming easily for me. Listen to these words of honesty from Epiphanyite Mike McAuliffe:

When, on election night, I first encountered an adversity that is not easy to understand in secular terms, I felt lost. After several hours of secular anxiety, I was able to call upon my faith to help calm my body and mind. I was able to take comfort in the community that I knew would always stand for love, welcome, dignity, and respect, regardless of the political climate. I felt fortunate to have such a foundation and felt despair for those who do not have the same blessing. As I asked God to provide me with relief and to look after those who did not know where to turn, I felt God in person for the first time I can remember.

After attending the Eucharist tonight, I feel even more certain that God's presence has been bestowed upon me in an explicitly personal way. I did not expect to leave tonight feeling strong in my resolve to stand up for what is right. I did not expect to leave tonight feeling kindred to others who have come before, standing in the face of adversity in the name of loving kindness. I did not expect to leave tonight with a clarity of purpose in the coming days and weeks; that purpose being to open my arms to all who seek solace, period. I have this purpose because God opened arms to me tonight.

I did not expect to leave tonight with a new understanding of what God is.

I knew God was love. I knew God was community. I knew God was togetherness.

Now I know that God is strength. Now I know God is resolve. Now I know God is clarity of purpose. Now I know that God is not only these things, but God is also our ability to inspire these things in others.

I don't know what the next steps are and I don't know what the future holds. I don't know how I go about opening my arms to all who seek solace. However, I do know that I've never been more proud to proclaim my faith.

I believe in love. I believe in equality. I believe in respect. I believe in the dignity of others. I believe in God.

Thank you, Mike, for your thoughtful words and honest reflection. Thank you, staff, for a safe place to process. And thank you, Epiphany, for being a village to call home, and a safe haven of love and hope. I am deeply grateful.

The Rev. Dr. Sharon Hiers, Sr. Associate Rector

*There is no confirmed history of this phrase being a recorded African proverb, but through lore and storytelling, it has been attributed as such.

Will you strive for justice and peace among all people, and respect the dignity of every human being?

I will, with God's help.

—Book of Common Prayer, page 305

Thanksgiving Offering Is For Appleton Ministries

An offering for the Sunday following Thanksgiving (November 29) is designated by canon for Appleton Episcopal Ministries, a diocesan ministry in Macon.

Once a home for orphans, Appleton now operates an after-school program at St. Francis' Church for at-risk children, as well as a mentoring program for their parents. It is supported by the four Episcopal congregations of Macon, a small endowment, and this Thanksgiving offering.

You may make a check out to Epiphany marked for "Appleton Ministries" and leave it in the alms basin.

UPDATE: Haiti Hurricane Matthew Relief

Thanks to your generosity, Epiphany has sent almost $12,000 to BTI, through bank wire transfers. Since 2009, we have enjoyed a personal parish relationship and mission work with the Bishop Tharp Institute (BTI), a college of the Diocese of Haiti. BTI lost roofs, incurred damage to classrooms and equipment. Also, the roof was lost on the Episcopal Church of the Ascension at which Rev. Kesner Ajax is the Rector.

Thankfully work is now underway to help those impacted by the hurricane. BTI students and Ascension parishioners are being fed. Classes have resumed at BTI. Equipment is being replaced. BTI's Epiphany Guest House is housing aid workers. The need is still great and recovery will take many months. We ask that if you wish to donate relief funds, please make your check out to Epiphany noting BTI in the memo field.

Altar Arrangements & Sanctuary Light

Altar Flowers

Each Sunday, with the exception of Lent, flowers are placed on the high altar area. There are occasions when the church takes on a more festive look such as Christmas and Easter. Flowers are offered “for the Glory of God and in thanksgiving or in memory of a person or event.” Parishioners offer altar flowers as a visible sign of acknowledgement of God’s presence in their lives. The color and selection of flowers is based on the appropriateness of the liturgical season. More than one person or family may sign up for the altar flowers during the same week.

Sanctuary Light

The Sanctuary Light is a visible sign of the presence of the Blessed Sacrament held in reserve in the Tabernacle. It is the tradition of our faith that parishioners make an offering to acknowledge the memory of a loved one in his or her life—especially appropriate during the week or day of an anniversary date of someone’s death.

Click the RSVP button on the homepage to find the sign-up link. Cost: $70/flowers, $6/light. Make check payable to Church of the Epiphany, noting “Flowers” or “Light” in the memo field, or pay by Paypal to treasurer@epiphany.org.

Battery & Cork Recycling

Please drop off your batteries and natural corks (no synthetics) in the container next to the microwave in the kitchen. If you have a really large quantity of batteries or corks, contact: Sandy Land (alexandra_land@yahoo.com).

Weekday Worship & Bible Study

Tuesday Morning Eucharist is celebrated at 7 a.m. A group of men gather for breakfast and discussion afterwards and typically are on their way to work by 8 a.m.

A Noonday healing service is offered on Wednesdays followed by Eucharist and then Bible Study at 1 p.m.

The Wednesday Evening Bible Study with the Rector is offered at 6:30 p.m. for a study of the upcoming Sunday’s readings.

Thursday Shared Silence (7 a.m.) is a drop-in time for anyone who wants to sit with others in prayer, meditation, or self-reflection. The time is unprogrammed; come as you are and join a relaxed, open atmosphere.

Bishop Whitmore Returning to Wisconsin

At the end of 2016, Bishop Keith and Suzie Whitmore will bring their ministry in the Diocese of Atlanta to a close.

Bishop Whitmore

came to Atlanta on April 15, 2008 to serve as Assistant Bishop of Atlanta at the invitation of Bishop Alexander and has served Bishop Wright since his election. The Whitmore's are returning to Wisconsin to listen for God's next call to ministry, to be close to family, and to learn to live into retirement.

Bishop Wright said "I am extremely grateful for the service Bishop Whitmore has given to this diocese and to me personally. His experience and wisdom will be missed."

"Susie and I are so grateful for all the people of this Diocese who have welcomed and blessed us these nearly nine years," Bishop Whitmore said.

To express appreciation and gratitude for Bishop Whitmore's ministry among us, a purse will be collected. Checks can be sent to the diocese with the notation "Bishop Whitmore Purse" or on-line contributions can be made here.
