Yes! FIFTY.

Alleluia! Christ is risen!! And our tradition recognizes this glorious event for fifty whole days. We are just getting started! I write this on the 12th day of Eastertide, and we can be as excited and glorious as we were when we were all gathered together, shoulder to shoulder with joyful music and bells ringing and alleluia's breaking through the darkness.

Many people say "I didn't know there were 50 days of Easter..." and why would you, really? Last week, on the third day of Easter I bought dark chocolate Easter candy for 70% off. To the world, it's all over. Done. Easter has come and gone. Let's rush to the next thing.

But that's just it. We don't have to rush through this celebration. We get 50 days to celebrate. To contemplate. To rejoice. To know what it means for God to be alive, in us, moving through us and with us and around us with every step and every breath.

Today I am celebrating that 35 women have registered to join in on a retreat at Montana Farms this weekend. The loose topic is "Making Space, Marking Time". What a sacred and holy thing to celebrate. I feel the weight of the responsibility for us to know God's presence among us as we walk this weekend together, and the relief that God alone will manifest God with us.

Eastertide can get lost. We are offered the opportunity to walk these days with intention, and yet God is at work in all of it. We don't have to stop to feel or hear God. God is in the chaos and the quiet. Sometimes we forget that simple idea. In fact, in Holy Scripture, we meet God in the chaos of a yet unformed world. God was there. God continues to be there too. Resurrecting us.

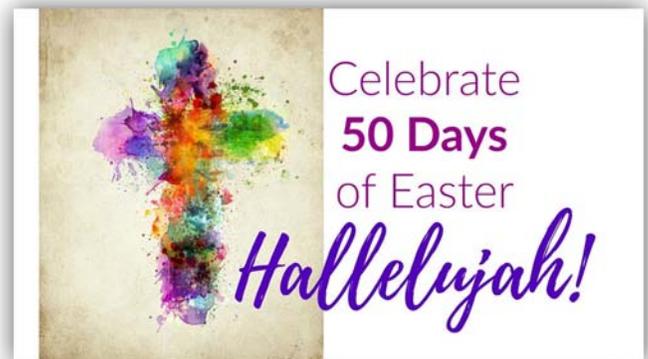

Recently, a companion on the way sent me an article on resurrection. There were a number of examples of what resurrection looks like, feels like. Here was one of them:

Sometimes resurrection feels like standing in front the Table of the Lord at church, right before a man and a woman who love Jesus, too. It looks like holding your hands open, cupped to receive without striving or grasping. It feels like the goodness of bread and the movement of dipping that bread into a cup of wine. It feels like lowering your head to hear them remind you again and again and again that this body is for you and this wine is for you – even you. Resurrection feels like the wine running down your fingers and into the palm of your hand as you hold up that piece of soaked bread and then you put it on your tongue and push it up against the roof of your mouth, tasting and seeing. You trace the sign of the Cross on your doubting and faith-filled head and heart and then you walk back to your seat. It feels like that moment when you are among the people again and your knees buckle and the power of God sweeps into your body like a reminder: there's a rushing wind here, there's a power, a power, a wonder-working power.<sup>1</sup>

Fifty days. Easter. Resurrection. The Lord is risen indeed. Alleluia!

Multiple Invitations

By Annie Strahan

As a longtime member of this parish I've been supported by this community in a multitude of ways. The spiritual guidance and education by clergy and other parishioners have both grounded and elevated my being. Although it's changed significantly over time, growing aesthetically and in size, the physical space here has supported the spiritual and social growth of my family. But it is the people of our church that have truly nourished me. Epiphanyites have celebrated holidays, birthdays, graduations, and weddings with me and helped me navigate the devastation of sickness, death and grief. I am so very grateful for my Epiphany family and appreciative that on my first visit to the church, and regularly since then, I've been welcomed so warmly and invited to be part of the Epiphany family.

I came to Epiphany with my family of four in the late 1980's, having "auditioned" several other churches. A realtor had warned us that Epiphany was "different" and she didn't think it would be our kind of place, but we definitely wanted to see for ourselves. The sanctuary was very different then, with the altar where the choir loft is and the celebrant with her back to the congregation. The entry to the sanctuary was through the current sacristy and there were no side aisles. We entered with curiosity and the nervousness you feel when you're a visitor. We discovered women priests (!) and a congregation that demonstrated their values by having a special, fun pew for children - the front pew, no less! And at the end of the service an older couple came up, introduced themselves and invited us to return. This invitation meant a great deal. We took them up on it and soon experienced the unique warmth and depth of Epiphany's spiritual community. It fit.

For years we were very actively involved in different aspects of life at Epiphany. However, as our children reached adulthood the cares of work and home led to a period of spiritual inertia and we grew more distant from the daily life of the church, although we still attended services. Then Randy, my husband, developed cancer and again, we experienced the love of this community. Parishioners and clergy reached out to support us in a multitude of ways through this ordeal. An Epiphany friend was by my side when I received his prognosis, folks reached out to comfort Randy from their own experience of illness, looked after my house, walked my dogs, and visited us. We weren't able to come to church, so the church came to us. Epiphany support held me up during the funeral. My admiration and gratitude for this loving care are endless. And in my grief, I understood that the invitation still stood and also that I needed to return to my church family and wanted to give back.

Now, I experience Epiphany fully again. Serving on the vestry has been rewarding in terms of making a contribution and has stimulated the development of new bonds and friendships. I've had a fabulous time working with the Parish Life committee on events and serving on the Altar and Flower Guilds. I pledge out of gratitude and to maintain my church "home." I invite any of you who may be thinking of becoming more involved with Epiphany in any way or on any level to approach any clergy, vestry member or committee chair with questions - really, just ask anyone with a nametag!

During Holy Week I was asked if my 4 year old granddaughter, Claire, would be coming to help the Altar Guild prepare for Easter Sunday. This wasn't my plan, as I was thinking about efficiency, but I mentioned it to her and she was absolutely thrilled to be invited to have a special job. So, on that morning we arrived, got busy placing the cushions around the altar rail and I soon became distracted with another task. I walked into the sacristy to see Claire and several adults, including Keith Poole, sitting on the floor, engaged in putting candles in holders for the Easter Vigil and chatting and counting in Español. It was such a genuine Epiphany moment! They were sharing in community as they worked, as were a multitude of other folks (children, adults and clergy) arranging flowers, cleaning the sanctuary, rehearsing anthems and hymns, working outside to beautify the grounds, setting up for Easter breakfast, dying Easter Eggs and who knows what else. Some faces may have changed, but I still am filled with joy and awe at our uniquely warm and engaged Epiphany community. Please join us!

We will make sure that there are two households to cover each dinner, so you can enjoy getting to know other Epiphanyites better or serving with your friends.

Click the RSVP link at epiphany.org to sign up.

Important: You may sign up as Volunteer #1, who brings the entrée and a side (and/or another item such as bread, drinks, etc.,) or Volunteer # 2, who brings the fill-in items such as a side/salad, bread, drinks, dessert.

When you sign up, please put your specific menu items under "comments." This is information the shelter requests, and it helps us avoid duplications. Also, please put "new" under comments if this is your first time to help with Hagar's House.

Now Showing

Epiphany's Art Ministry welcomes for the month of April mixed media art by Elise Aronson.

Artist Bio

Elise Aronson is mixed media assemblage artist. She was born in St. Louis, Missouri, but has spent most of her life in Atlanta, Georgia. She received a Bachelor in Visual Arts in Art Education from Georgia State University and served as an art educator in public and private schools. Elise is a member of the Atlanta Collage Society and the Roswell Fine Arts Alliance.

Elise's art is inspired by her spiritual practice and her love of collecting natural objects, vintage items, and ephemera. Recently, she has broadened into the art of encaustic painting -- working with pigmented wax -- which has given her assemblages a new dimension.

25% of all sales benefit Epiphany. Please make checks out to Elise Aronson

To make a purchase, sign up on the list in the Gallery, fill out an envelope and put it with your check in the box on the round table. No cash please. Be sure to note the title and number of the art piece. All paid for items will be left in the office area at the end of the month.

Altar Arrangements & Sanctuary Light

Altar Flowers: Each Sunday, with the exception of Lent, flowers are placed on the high altar area. There are occasions when the church takes on a more festive look such as Christmas and Easter. Flowers are offered "for the Glory of God and in thanksgiving or in memory of a person or event." Parishioners offer altar flowers as a visible sign of acknowledgement of God's presence in their lives. The color and selection of flowers is based on the appropriateness of the liturgical season. More than one person or family may sign up for the altar flowers during the same week.

Sanctuary Light: The Sanctuary Light is a visible sign of the presence of the Blessed Sacrament held in reserve in the Tabernacle. It is the tradition of our faith that parishioners make an offering to acknowledge the memory of a loved one in his or her life—especially appropriate during the week or day of an anniversary date of someone's death.

Click the RSVP button on the homepage to find the sign-up link. Cost: $70/flowers, $6/light. Make check payable to Church of the Epiphany, noting 'Flowers' or 'Light' in the memo field.

Ongoing Battery & Cork Recycling

Please drop off your batteries and natural corks (no synthetics) in the container next to the microwave in the kitchen. If you have a really large quantity of batteries or corks contact: Sandy Land (alexandra\_land@yahoo.com).

Celebration of a New Ministry

St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church, April 18 at 6 p.m.

Dear Friends, I wanted to let the churches where I have served about the rescheduled Installation. Please pray for us, for clement weather, so that it does not have to be rescheduled, and also please know that Epiphany, Mediator, St. John's, Grace and Trinity and you all are in my heart always. ~The Rev. John Hamilton *St. Alphege, (sometimes St. Ælfheah) Archbishop of Canterbury from 1005 to 1009, remembered as a martyr, one who died, not precisely for professing the Christian faith, but for exercising the Christian virtue of justice.
